Russians Destroy 10 Nazi Vessels in Northern Area

(By The Associated Press)
Adolf Hitler's high command reported today the annihilation of nine Soviet divisions and the crushing of nine other divisions "with the bloodiest losses"—a grand total of about 270,000 men—in fighting south of Lake Ilmen on the Leningrad front.

In a special bulletin, the fuhrer's field headquarters declared that strong forces of the 11th, 27th and 34th Russian armies had been "decisively defeated," with the capture of 53,000 Red army prisoners, 320 tanks and 625 pieces of artillery.

German losses, as usual, were not disclosed.
The Nazi bulletin said the vast slaughter occurred "during the past weeks" and indicated a smashing blow to Leningrad's defense army of 1,000,000 men.

Simultaneously, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star reported that a gigantic night battle of heavy tanks for an "important point on the approaches to Leningrad" ended in a complete rout of the Germans, who left hundreds dead on the field.

Teheran Is Threatened
British and Russian troops tonight were reported marching on the Iranian capital of Teheran as the nation's ruler, Reza Shah Pahlavi, abdicated under the threat of such action.

The British and Russians accused the Shah and his government of dilatory tactics in carrying out an agreement to expel or deliver to the allies all German, Hungarian, Italian and Rumanian nationals.

This afternoon, it was learned authoritatively, British and Russian troops were marching on Teheran with plans for immediate occupation of the city.

A Teheran dispatch, not immediately clear here, said that Russian forces already had occupied the town of Karaj, 28 miles northwest of Teheran, but stated that a British military attaché had gone to inquire into the reason for the Russian move. This dispatch was filed before announcement over the Teheran radio of the Shah's abdication, and before it was stated authoritatively here that the British and Russians were cooperating to occupy Teheran.

The Shah's abdication was announced before an extraordinary session of the Iranian parliament, the Teheran radio stated, the official reason being ill health.

The Shah who ascended the throne in 1925, was reported to have fled the capital, but his whereabouts were not disclosed immediately. It was assumed he would be succeeded by his 21-year-old son, the European-educated Crown Prince Shahpur Mohammad Reza.

Nazi military dispatches, picturing Leningrad as doomed, said the great network of steel and concrete fortifications ringing the old Czarist capital was crumbling under blows of the most de-

C.I.O. Convention Is Put Off Indefinitely, Says Thomas Kennedy

New York, Sept. 16 (P)—A state C. I. O. convention scheduled for Utica, N. Y., Sept. 26 and 27, has been postponed indefinitely, it was announced yesterday by Thomas Kennedy, administrator of the New York State Industrial Union Council.

Left wing union members, refusing to pay per capita taxes in a dispute with right wing members, claimed the move as a victory.

Kennedy said new dates would have to be passed on by the C. I. O. national executive board but added that per capita arrears would have to be paid up before members could participate in any convention.

10 More Hostages Are Shot in Paris By German Order

Retaliatory Executions Now Total 13 for attacks on Nazi Soldiers of Occupation

Paris, Occupied France, Sept. 16 (P)—General Heinrich von Stuep-nagel, commander of the German occupying forces, announced today that 10 more hostages had been shot in Paris in reprisal for attacks on German army men.

The executions were in retaliation for attacks on men of the army of occupation on September 6, 10 and 11, a notice informed the public.

The notice was sent to newspapers of the occupied zone and was posted on house walls.

The executions brought to 13 the number officially announced. Three hostages were shot at dawn September 6 for an attack on a sergeant.

The evening after these executions, a German officer was shot, another shot at but missed, a German military garage was fired and a German military official assaulted. Subsequently, a German officer was clubbed and another manhandled in Paris streets.

As far as is known, the actual attackers have not been apprehended.

The latest executions—any political prisoner of the Germans is considered a hostage—appeared to check the announced desire of Fernand de Brinon, the Vichy ambassador to Paris, to take charge of punishing opposition to occupational authority.

The Communists, de Brinon declared, have promised that there would be 10 reprisals for every hostage shot by the Germans.

The German ratio appeared to be three hostages executed for every German army man attacked.

The names of the 10 persons shot were made public. They included several Jews, ranging in age from 19 to 72. Names of previous hostages executed have been withheld.

U. S. O. Campaign Totals $1,149.18

County Treasurer Gives Report on Collections Made in County

County Treasurer Chester A. Lyons, who has been acting as treasurer for the United Service Organizations campaign in this county reports that up to today he has received from various town chairmen a total of $1,149.18, the results of U. S. O. drives conducted in these towns. The money has been forwarded to the treasurer for the United Service Organizations campaign in this state.

Mr. Lyons reports the following contributions received at his office:

Denning, Elmer Schultz, chairman	$ 48.20
Hurley, Mrs. A. D. Law-

Mr. Lyons said this morning that undoubtedly this represents but part of the total U. S. O. collections in Ulster county, as in some cases contributions have been sent directly to New York instead of to him.

Agreement Is Signed

Washington, Sept. 16 (P)—The United States and Haiti today signed an agreement under which lease goods valued at $1,100,000 for Haitian defense will be sent to that strategic Caribbean island. The agreement was signed by Secretary Hull and Fernand Dennis, the Haitian minister. Repayment will be made by Haiti by shipments of Haitian products to this country.

Size of New Outlay Will Depend Upon Estimates of Munitions Production; President to Give Exact Total in Next Budget Message

Washington, Sept. 16 (P)—Harold D. Smith, budget director, today began the preparation of a record-breaking budget for the next fiscal year and it may cost the treasury $32,000,000,000.

The exact figure, however, will not be known until President Roosevelt sends it to congress next January.

A $32,000,000,000 budget would mean $10,000,000,000 more than is slated to be spent this fiscal year. Smith's task, however, is something more than arriving at a huge total. For financial experts hold that expenditures on such an astronomical scale will be possible only if defense production reaches a tremendous volume.

They explained that, in the last analysis, the size of the new budget will depend, not on administration wishes, but on the estimated amount of munitions the nation's factories can turn out. The cost of this production plus certain routine government expenses will write the total.

Defense is scheduled for about a $25,000,000,000 share of next year's budget, compared with about $15,000,000,000 this year. This fiscal year will end and the new one begin the night of June 30, 1942.

Smith, himself, declined to estimate the size of the next budget, saying that he has only begun requests.

The first hearings, held yesterday, was for the interstate commerce commission. In the coming weeks each of the scores of government agencies will present and try to justify their requests, with the big army, navy and lend-lease hearings waiting for December.

Late in December, the budget officials and President Roosevelt will revise the departmental requests, but all the details will be secret until the President sends his request to congress.

National Biscuit Company May Close Local Branch

It is understood that the National Biscuit Co. is planning to close its Kingston branch, and consolidate it with the Poughkeepsie branch.

The local distributing branch is located at 66 Ten Broeck avenue, in a building owned by the Gray estate. The branch has been located in Kingston for more than a quarter of a century.

There are approximately a dozen men employed at the local branch in the office and on the delivery trucks. It is said that these men will be transferred to the Poughkeepsie branch.

From what could be learned the consolidation will not be made until winter.

Windsors to Pay Visit

Washington, Sept. 16 (P)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will be guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt at an informal White House luncheon on September 25. The Duke, now governor of the Bahamas, and the Duchess will pass through Washington on the way to his Canadian ranch.

Ration Cards Are Issued

Rome, Sept. 16 (P)—New ration cards, which distributors said were intended for bread, were passed out in Rome. Use of the cards was expected to start October 1.

The membership of the Cooperative Concert Association of Kingston, which continues through this week, got away to a fine start Monday night when 62 representative members of the association, from various sections of Ulster county met at the Governor Clinton hotel.

Dinner was served at 6 o'clock and was followed by talks given by several of the officers and a recital by John Carter, well known tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Co.

Dr. F. W. Holcomb, president of the association, presided during the evening and told the workers that they could go out this week knowing that they were offering to the public one of the best balanced concert programs and one with the best general appeal of any

Time-Payment Law Beginning to Show Its Effects Locally

Several Kingston Firms Are Feeling 'Pinch' of New Government Regulation

To what extent Kingston merchants will be affected by the recently instituted "installment credit" regulations can not be determined at this time but several local firms dealing largely with "time payments" are already feeling the pinch of the new regulation which went into effect on Labor Day, September 1.

Under the new regulations of the Federal Reserve Board's installment credit plan, the time limit to repay on specified consumer articles and on the small cash loan is 18 months and the amount of the minimum down payments has been materially increased.

The minimum down payment on automobiles, airplanes, power boats, boat motors and motorcycles is 33 1/3 per cent and the balance must be paid in full within 18 months. This restriction many automobile dealers believe will act to decrease the volume of their business since many purchases are made on credit.

Thiell Is Sentenced To Year in County Jail

Critical Phases Of War Develop

Germany's War in Russia, Oil in Middle East, U. S. Are Big Factors

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(Freeman Special News Service)

This being the day the United States navy starts operating under orders "to capture or destroy" every Axis raider that so much as casts an eye on lease-lend cargoes en route between America and Iceland, an editor suggests that I put myself in Herr Hitler's place and figure out how he will meet this difficult situation.

Always glad of new ideas, still we must be excused from taking the place of any individual who is to all intents at war with our country. We don't care much either to be in the uncomfortable position of tangle with the U. S. navy, for which we have a very wholesome respect—and venture to suggest that the fuhrer has too.

However, there's no harm in guessing what the Nazi chief has in mind. It would seem more profitable though to take a look at his entire war problem, since his action in the Atlantic must be governed to considerable degree by what happens in Russia.

Much will depend, as was pointed out in yesterday's column, on the German position in Russia a couple of weeks from now—or whenever the pre-winter weather begins to lay a heavy hand on military operations. In trying to assay the general war outlook we must keep in mind these vital points:

Herr Hitler likely will have to hold a line through the winter between the Baltic and the Black seas, but if he can bring home his present great offensives, and get himself into a favorable strategic position, he will be able to maintain his defenses much more easily and therefore will be able to release forces for operations elsewhere.

Would Keep Great Army

Former Milton Fireman Is Sentenced on Plea Entered in June; Leniency Asked

Frederick J. Thiell, former fire chief of the Milton fire department, was sentenced to a year in the county jail Monday afternoon by County Judge J. Edward Conway on a criminal negligence charge resulting from a crash of the village fire truck on June 16, 1939, which resulted in the deaths of Anthony Fanizzi, Milton grill proprietor, and Clarence Alsford of Milton, both of whom were riding on the fire truck when it went out of control of the chief and crashed between Milton and Marlborough.

A second indictment also charging criminal negligence was dismissed. The second charge grew out of the same accident but related to the second death.

Chief Thiell had pleaded guilty to the criminal negligence charge last June, but sentence was postponed until the opening of the present term of County Court.

Assemblyman John Wadlin, appearing for Chief Thiell, presented to the court a petition signed by 329 residents of Milton and vicinity requesting that the court extend to Thiell leniency. Mr. Wadlin said Mr. Thiell had been in the service of his country for 22 months during the World War and for 11 years had acted as chief of the Milton department. He was the sole supporter of his family, consisting of three children, and Mr. Wadlin called the attention of the court to the petition of the people of Milton.

In pronouncing sentence, Judge Conway said that he felt there was no probability of the defendant ever again becoming involved in any such crime and he said he knew that Mr. Thiell had suffered the agonies of remorse. Citing the request of his friends and neighbors in Milton, Judge Conway said he would extend the utmost leniency, knowing that the ends of justice would be served by that sentence. He then pronounced the jail term. Mr. Wadlin moved for dismissal of the second indictment which was granted.

Washington Quarters Say Naval Action Puts Convoy System Into Effect

Ruling Is Made

Biddle Gives Version About Neutrality Act Proclamation

Washington, Sept. 16 (P)—Stripped for action, the United States Atlantic fleet took under the protection of its guns today all lease-lend cargoes in transit on the Atlantic between the North American continent and Iceland.

The zero-hour for this new phase of operations was 12:01 a. m., and the widely accepted view in authoritative quarters here was that it meant the start of actual convoy duty by U. S. naval vessels along a 2,000-mile stretch of the north Atlantic.

Literally, the new naval policy as enunciated by Secretary Knox was to provide protection "as adequate as we can make it" in the designated area, with all fleet units under specific orders "to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal" every Axis raider encountered.

With the Atlantic fleet charged with the responsibility of safeguarding British and all other cargo vessels in the expanses west of Iceland, the royal navy could concentrate its efforts on guaranteeing safe passage through the perilous 800-mile stretch between Iceland and the British Isles.

In a companion move to ease Britain's shipping burdens, American merchantmen were given explicit permission to carry arms and munitions to many parts of the vast British empire.

The state department announced a ruling by Attorney General Biddle last night which held that President Roosevelt's neutrality act proclamation at the outbreak of the war in 1939 did not prohibit American ships from transporting implements of war to any portion of the British empire except the united kingdom, India, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, Union of South Africa and areas blocked by neutrality act "combat zones."

The effect of the ruling was to clear the way for the flow of munitions in American ships to numerous British colonies and possessions, some of them of strategic proximity to theaters of active operations and others of potential future importance.

Meanwhile, administration leaders in the Senate were mulling over the whole broad question of the existing neutrality law and the report was they were undecided on how far they should go in seeking its overhaul.

Methods of changing it were discussed at yesterday's legislative conference with President Roosevelt, congressional leaders revealed, but they said the only decision reached was that Mr. Roosevelt would recommend no changes before October 1.

Leaders conceded they might face a real fight in any effort to revamp the neutrality law, which prevents American ships from traveling to specified belligerent countries, prohibits Americans from traveling on belligerent vessels except under regulations issued by the President, requires transfer of title before goods can be shipped to belligerent nations, and bans the arming of American merchant ships.

Troops Withdraw

Nazis Take 500,000 From France, Low Nations for Red Campaign

London, Sept. 16 (P)—Demands of the Russian campaign were declared by a reliable source here today to have compelled Germany to withdraw "nearly 500,000 seasoned troops from the low countries and occupied France."

This source said the troops withdrawn apparently were being replaced by younger recruits and soldiers over 35 years old. There is reason to believe, however, that western Europe still is garrisoned by approximately 800,000 men, the same number that has been there for several months, it was said.

Grocery Route
Alexandria, Ind.—Jim Madden, who has a grocery store, got to wondering how far he walked in a day.

So when he got up yesterday he strapped a pedometer to one leg. He put in a day at the store, running after things for customers, and just before he went to bed last night he took the pedometer off.

It registered 17 miles.

Cotton Shortage

Marks, Miss.—The Marks Junior Chamber of Commerce's annual cotton-picking contest is off—definitely.

Boll weevils first swept the field scheduled for the event, but that wasn't enough to stop it. Now army worms have moved in, all the leaves have been eaten, and the cotton has opened prematurely.

Stampede

Philadelphia — Dr. Edward Krumbhaar wishes motorists who insist on knocking his fence down would pause long enough to recapture his cattle.

Sweeping around a sharp turn on a steep grade, automobiles four times in the past year have knocked down his fence and four times Dr. Krumbhaar and his son have spent hours rounding up the live stock.

A motorist who ignored the pair met them in town and learned one was the Kansas governor.

"My wife," he apologized, "thought you were a couple of magazine salesmen."

Wasted Effort

Chicago—When Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hill started saving dimes five years ago, they vowed they would keep it up until they had $1,000—then put it in a bank.

They left a miniature safe, in which they had stored 9,000 dimes, with a relative who hid it in a trunk. Burglars broke in a few days later and fled with the $900.

Bed-Time Story

Champaign, Ill.—Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lincione were late arriving at a party because he put on the wrong type of evening clothes.

Dog tired when he came home from the office, Lincione shaved and showered and then—instead of donning his dinner clothes—absent-mindedly put on pajamas, crawled in bed and was sound asleep when his wife found him.

Fruits Available With Good Supply

Shortages in Some Offset
by Abundance in Others

Albany, Sept. 16 — The 1941 crop season is drawing to a close with relatively satisfactory crops of the principal late fruits and vegetables, according to the state-federal crop report for September issued from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Apples in the commercial counties of New York totalling 16,380,000 bushels compare with 12,936,000 bushels a year ago and 17,211,000 bushels, the 10-year average. Large quantities of these will be canned, dried and made into apple-juice and cider, in addition to those for fresh use. Local hail storms have done severe damage to fruit locally, that on September 10 having been especially severe in Oswego county. High winds have blown some apples off the trees, though most of these will probably be utilized unless labor scarcity or price declines prevent. The Baldwin and Northern Spy varieties are especially light in New York, while McIntosh, Wealthy, Ben Davis and Rome Beauty are quite abundant, and other varieties range from light to heavy in production.

The United States apple crop of 128,322,000 bushels is 12 per cent above last year and 2 per cent above the 10-year average. Although pears in New York are 7 per cent below the 10-year average and 17 per cent below last year, the harvest is estimated at 1,378,000 bushels. The national crop, more than half of which is grown in Washington, Oregon and California, amounts to 31,646,000 bushels, about the same as last season, though 16 per cent above average.

Grapes, with 56,800 tons, are unusually light in New York, where 75,800 tons, or about an average crop, were harvested last year. The other eastern states are likewise light, the 1941 crop in the four states of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Michigan totalling 144,500 tons, nearly a fourth less than last season. There are mainly varieties of which the Concord, Niagara, Delaware, Worden and other similar kinds are typical.

In the major California region the crop is especially heavy, 2,347,000 tons compared with 2,246,000 tons last season and 1,990,800 the 10-year average. Raisin varieties, 1,355,000 tons (fresh weight) are 12 per cent above last season; the 590,000 tons of wine varieties are 3 per cent under and 402,000 tons of table varieties represent a decrease of 7 per cent.

The national total grape crop of 2,599,020 tons, light in the east and heavy in the west, is only 2 per cent above 1940.

A recent survey of school children in New York city disclosed that one out of every seven pupils had eyesight faults which needed correction.

Critical Phases Of War Develop

now—then Hitler will be compelled to keep a great army in the Russian field, and so will have to curtail operations elsewhere.

In order to get himself properly set, or so it seems to me, the Nazi leader must capture Leningrad (and what a job that is proving to be); he must maintain at least his present position in the center of the line opposite Moscow; he must capture Kiev and roll the Red forces in the Ukraine clear back to the Don river, thereby putting himself in position to make a drive down through the Caucasus to Persia.

I was chatting yesterday with General H. S. Sewell, the British military expert, and he feels that Hitler's most likely move, if he gets a favorable break in his present operations, will be to the east. The general points out that if the Germans are able to gain control of the Black Sea, and if they can manage Turkey so as to have no active opposition from her, their way will be open to the Caucasus and the rich oil fields of the Caspian. Once in the Caucasus, the Nazis would threaten the whole British structure in the middle east.

Will Screw Down Turks

If a drive down through the Caucasus isn't feasible, indications are that Hitler will put the screws on Turkey and try to get passage of his army across that country in order to get at the lower Caucasus and Persia. There is widespread belief in the Balkans that should the Turks refuse, Hitler might attack them, probably utilizing Rumanian and Bulgarian troops in the assault.

Should Hitler concentrate on the middle east, his operations elsewhere probably would be restricted—barring the Atlantic over which is passing a constantly increasing stream of aid for the allies. Someway he must halt that traffic, else it will overwhelm him.

Now while he ultimately may feel compelled to go all-out in raiding the American-Icelandic route, thereby precipitating open fighting with our warships, he has given plenty of indications that he would vastly prefer to avoid a clash which would bring us into the war and unleash our navy on him.

One would expect him first to try a fresh drive against British shipping as it is coming to England from Iceland. He undoubtedly is holding a large fleet of submarines in reserve, and when the Russian fighting eases off with the coming of winter, he will be able to release bombers to renew their assault on merchant ships and harbors.

Meantime, of course, the fuhrer is trying to push Japan into the war, with the idea of diverting as much of our navy as possible to the Far East. This effort will be stymied if Washington and Japan reach an agreement in their present negotiations.

That there will be shooting between Yankee warships and Nazi raiders there can be little doubt. Still, many observers feel that if Hitler follows logical strategy he will try to confine his activities largely to operations outside our protected zone and thus avoid war.

To Finish Street

Acting Superintendent Max Oppenheimer of the Board of Public Works said this morning that it was expected that Wall street, which is being retrofitted from Main street to the Boulevard, will be completed. Monday the employees of the board started the work of applying a surface treatment on Highland avenue from East Chester to the dead end.

Mayor Sends Washing Machine to Soldiers

Mayor C. J. Heiselman several weeks ago received a letter from Captain Robert O. Alquist, commanding Headquarters Battery, First Battalion, 156th Field Artillery, informing the mayor that the Kingston boys in the 156th needed a washing machine to do their weekly laundry. The captain stated that the monthly laundry bills which the men had to pay made a big dent in their monthly army pay and that they could save this monthly bill if they had a washing machine and could do their own wash.

The mayor thereupon purchased a modern washing machine, which was sent to Fort Dix and is now in use. Word has been received from Fort Dix that Headquarters Battery uses it Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and Battery "A" uses it Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Mayor Heiselman thanks Harry Kaplan, of the Kaplan Furniture Co., for his part in providing the washing machine by selling the machine to the mayor at wholesale price.

Dr. Holcomb Is Reelected President Of Local Cooperative Concert Group

while today there are some 350 cities in the United States and Canada putting on these concert programs. Mr. Ferguson said he was pleased to note the enthusiasm displayed; also to observe that among those present were some who had served on the first committee when he came to Kingston 12 years ago. He spoke of the great increase in music appreciation these days, saying that while 10 years ago less than one percent of the people could be listed as music lovers today that number has grown to over three percent. "Music needs no ballyhoo today," said Mr. Ferguson.

Mrs. Allan M. Hanstein, to whose faithful and indefatigable efforts throughout the history of the association so much of its final success is ascribed and who is general manager for the present campaign, with Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston and Mrs. George Pratt of Highland as co-managers, discussed plans for the week and also the new set-up for the organization.

Mrs. Hanstein said that with the increase in work connected with the Association's program it was found necessary to secure more help in carrying it out and last spring a board of nine directors was established.

The following directors were named: Mrs. C. D. Raymond, Elmhurst; Mrs. Clara Norton Reed, Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks, Vernon Miller, N. LeVan Haver, Leonard H. Stine, Kingston; Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin, Woodstock; Mrs. George Pratt, Highland; J. G. M. Hilton, Saugerties.

Later the directors met and elected the following officers: Dr. F. W. Holcomb, president; Mayor C. J. Heiselman, first vice-president; Mrs. Allan M. Hanstein, second vice-president; Mrs. Eloise P. Lovatt, secretary and Joseph Craig, treasurer. Mrs. Hanstein was named as chairman of the membership campaign, with Mrs. Wicks and Mrs. Pratt as co-chairman.

Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt had charge of the arrangements for the dinner Monday night.

Mrs. Hanstein announced that the team making the best showing by Saturday night would be allowed to choose a member to sit on the artists committee.

There was some discussion of the proposition to hold the membership campaign during music week next year, instead of in the fall, but a show of hands indicated that most of those present favored holding it in the spring.

The Coming Concerts

The following attractions have been secured for the 1941-42 season:

Monday, October 27—Trapp Family Choir.

Saturday, December 6—National Symphony Orchestra, from Washington, Hans Kindler, conductor.

Tuesday, March 17—Igor Gorin, baritone.

Wednesday, April 15—Gambarelli, dancer from the Metropolitan Opera Co.

A Musical Treat

The singing by John Carter, high ranking Metropolitan Opera tenor, who is now on a concert tour and whose voice has been heard on one of the most prominent radio programs, was a real and unexpected treat to those attending the meeting Monday night.

Mr. Carter combined a splendid voice with a most pleasing manner and there was no question but that he captivated his audience. A polished singer, he displayed his ability in a wide range of selections and with a true sense of tone that left nothing to be desired. His original program of four numbers was more than doubled as he responded to hearty and insistent encores and after he had made his last bow and left the room he was recalled by the continued applause and sang two more numbers. Among comments following the adjournment of the meeting were several that included suggestions that Mr. Carter be included on the association's concert program for another year.

James Quinlan was the accompanist for Mr. Carter.

Buick Service At Eagle Garage

Change Oct. 1 Will Give Better, Compact Service

Effective on October 1, the Kingston Buick Company, Inc., will move its service and parts department from the present quarters in the "Doc" Smith Garage at the rear of the new car show rooms on Clinton avenue to the Eagle Garage on Main street. The sales and display rooms will be continued at the present location on Clinton avenue and a used car department will also be retained at 254 Clinton avenue, in a portion of the "Doc" Smith property.

Additional equipment is being added and installed in the Eagle Garage at 10-12 Main street in order to give the owners of Buick cars the best possible service.

C. J. Gross, vice-president of the Kingston Buick Company, stated the change was being made to give better and more compact service to customers.

Thiell Is Sentenced To Year in Jail

were sentenced to a year in jail on a plea of guilty to carnal abuse. Raymond Mino appeared for Countrymen and Louis Bruhn for Shaver. Both told the court that they were leniently had been made to the court. Judge Conway said that in view of the age of the men and the fact that they knew just what they were doing when they violated the law, he could extend no leniency and imposed the jail sentence. Second indictments growing out of the same transaction were dismissed.

Austin McDonald, sentenced to jail for three months and fined $200 on being convicted of driving a car while intoxicated, as a second offender, last June, appeared by counsel, Attorney John DeWitt, and asked for remission of the fine. McDonald was convicted before Judge Flanery after a trial and at that time Judge Flanery said that he would listen to a motion to remit the fine if McDonald's conduct in jail was good during the serving of the three months' sentence. Mr. DeWitt said Mrs. McDonald had been working this summer at a boarding house to support the family, but that work was over and he asked the court for remission of the fine in order that McDonald might secure work and support his wife and family.

District Attorney N. LeVan Haver said that he believed the ends of justice had been met and he did not oppose the motion.

Judge Conway granted the request and warned McDonald that he must behave, get a job and leave liquor alone. Frederick M. Ahlberg of town of New Paltz, who last March was given a year in jail on a plea of guilty to carnal abuse, had the balance of his sentence suspended during good behavior in order that he might get a job and earn money to support his family before winter sets in. Peter Harp appeared for the defendant and asked the court to consider a suspension of the balance of the sentence because of the good record of Ahlberg since he has been in jail. Judge Conway granted the application and warned Ahlberg that any mis-step would result in his being brought back to complete the sentence.

The grand jury now in session probably will report on September 23.

Two More Enlist

Two more enlistments were reported this morning by the local army recruiting station. The two young men enlisting took place Friday, September 12. They were Howard Sutherland, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sutherland of R. F. D. No. 3, New Paltz and Albert A. Buchanan, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Buchanan of R. F. D. No. 2, New Paltz. Young Sutherland has been engaged as a farmer. His assignment in the army places him in the air corps. He was graduated from New Paltz grammar school and was a star athlete in baseball, basketball and football. Young Buchanan was a truck driver and also has been assigned to the air corps.

Woman Is Fined For Hitting Man

Incident in City Tavern Leads to Arrest

Mrs. Mamie Ackerly, 40, of Ontario, was found guilty of a charge of assault, third degree after a trial before Judge Raymond Mino in police court today, and she was fined $5. Mrs. Ackerly was arrested last night by Harry Wood at his tavern at 391 Washington avenue. Mr. Wood claimed that Mrs. Ackerly had struck him with her fists.

Mrs. Beatrice Brandon of Rosendale, charged with reckless driving, was discharged when Henry Abramowitz of Albany avenue, had made the arrest withdrew the complaint. Mrs. Brandon was arrested last Wednesday following a collision between the car she was operating and the car operated by Abramowitz at the intersection of Broadway and Cornell street. No personal injuries were reported but both cars were damaged.

Howard Smith of Schenectady, charged with overtime parking, forfeited bail by not appearing in court today.

Alex Greenfield of Accord, charged with making a right turn into Clinton avenue while operating his car in the traffic lane near the center of Albany avenue, forfeited bail by his non-appearance in court.

This is a Citizen—This is a Stoooge

WHAT IS A CITIZEN?

A citizen is someone who is well informed—who knows how to take part in self-government. He knows the FACTS on events and issues of the day. He is equipped by this information for the responsibility of voting. He gets this information from his newspaper

Citizens live in Democracies.

WHAT IS A STOOGE?

A stoooge is someone who is UNINFORMED. He is kept where he knows the things that the citizen has to know. He can't take part in self-government. He can only do what he's told—submit to regimentation—because he doesn't know any better. He hasn't any honest newspaper to show him he's a stoooge. All he reads is propaganda.

Stoooges live in Dictatorships.

NOT SO THE CITIZEN

He buys where he WANTS to buy ... where he can get the best value for his money. Merchants have to COMPETE for his business. They tell him about their wares in newspaper advertising columns. He gets the FACTS about what they have to sell, then makes up his own mind about what to buy. Nobody can force him into it.

STOOGES STAND IN LINE

They line up in the state-controlled stores to buy what the dictators tell them. They don't get what they want; they get what the dictators want them to get. And they pay what the dictators want them to pay. If the dictators' propaganda says that butter made from axle grease tastes good, the stoooges have to smack their lips over it. Or else get smacked!

Stoooges EXIST under dictatorship; without independence in their newspapers. But to the citizens of the United States—who really LIVE—the newspapers are invaluable. They print the news facts that make self-government possible. They print the advertising facts—the all-important information that helps Americans to LIVE BETTER.

A.B. Houghton Dies At Summer Home

Served as Ambassador to Two Countries

South Dartmouth, Mass., Sept. 16 (AP)—Alanson Bigelow Houghton, 78, former ambassador to Germany and Great Britain, died suddenly today at his summer home of a heart attack.

A graduate of Harvard University, which conferred a doctor of laws degree upon him in 1927, Houghton was ambassador to Germany from 1922 to 1925 when he was appointed ambassador to Great Britain. He resigned three years later.

He was president of the Corning Glass Works of Corning, N. Y., prior to entering the diplomatic service, and was Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate from New York after leaving the ambassadorship in 1928.

He married Miss Adelaide Wellington of Corning in 1890. She and five children survive him.

Local Death Record

The funeral of Mrs. Fannie H. DePuy Cornell, wife of William H. Cornell of 111 Main street, who died Friday, September 12, was held at the parlors of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. It was largely attended. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The services were conducted by the Rev. F. B. Seeley, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Burial was in Rosendale Plains cemetery.

Lawrence J. Mikolajczak (McCullough) of 82 Third avenue, died at his home early this morning following a lengthy illness. Mr. Mikolajczak, who recently observed his 84th birthday was born in Poland. For years he had resided in Kingston and became well known throughout the Polish settlement here. The affable disposition of Mr. Mikolajczak will long live in the memory of all who knew him. The sixtieth anniversary of his wife's death will be observed Sunday, September 21. Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Joseph Wojciechowski and Mrs. Anna Bujak, and two sons, George J. and Jerome R. McCullough. Also eight grandchildren. For many years Mr. Mikolajczak was a devout member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The funeral will be held from his late home on Third avenue, the time and day to be announced later.

The funeral services of Mrs. Theresa Guido, wife of Jerome Guido, of East Kingston were held from her late home at 9:30 and 10 o'clock from St. Columba's Church where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul. There were many floral bouquets and also spiritual bouquets in the form of Mass cards which were sent by many sorrowing friends and relatives. The Rev. Father, Peter Fox celebrated the Mass. The Rev. Benjamin C. Roth was deacon and the Rev. George McWeeny was sub-deacon. The Mass was sung by Charles Ricciardi assisted at the organ by Mrs. Wemple. Burial was made in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery where final absolution was given by the Rev. George McWeeny as the body was lowered to its final resting place. The bearers were Vincent, Buono, Anthony, Guido, James Sisco, Louis LaRocco, Thomas Qualtere and Frank Qualtere all nephews of the deceased.

Foresees Better Cars
George J. Schryver, head of the George J. Schryver Motor Car Co., following the national meeting of Nash dealers and officials in Chicago, where the new cars were inspected, has no doubt as to the industry showing new and improved cars this year. He finds that participation by the Nash Co., as well as others in phases of aircraft production, will undoubtedly affect the future motor car production for the better and predicts that many new developments would come out of the industry's defense efforts.

Young Wilzbach was a student in Kingston High School where he was active in football.

Expert States Children Are Complicated Study

The more Arnold Gesell studies children, the more complicated he finds them. Probably the world's best-informed expert on child behavior, he has examined thousands, with cameras and his solemn eye, in his Clinic of Child Development, which he founded at Yale in 1911. It has taken him 19 books to publish his findings. Last week Dr. Gesell turned out his twentieth, "The First Five Years of Life" (Harper, $3.50).

Dr. Gesell believes that children are not only charming but startling, is firmly convinced that it is silly to try to measure them by intelligence tests. He has worked out an elaborate method of spying on them from behind a one-way-vision screen. In "The First Five Years of Life" he describes (1) how a normal child grows; (2) how one normal child differs from another. Normal behavior at different ages:

At 16 weeks a baby bubbles, coos, chuckles; at 28 weeks he crawls; at 40 weeks he understands No! No!; at one year he speaks two or three words; at 18 months he speaks 10 words and begins to drop baby talk; at two years he knows 300 words; at three he speaks sentences, soliloquies; at four he asks endless, apparently frivolous questions, makes intentional puns (e.g., "Cedar rabbits" for Cedar Rapids); at five talks succinctly and to the point, asks questions because he really wants to know.

The large silvery scales of the tarpon are sold as souvenirs and are used for making costume jewelry.

Legion Holds Annual Parade

Alabama Heads the State Departments; Business Is Put Aside

Milwaukee, Sept. 16 (AP)—The American soldiers who shouldered rifles in France in 1918 substituted canes today as they swung jauntily down Milwaukee streets in the American Legion's brilliant convention parade.

Milwaukee got up early, hurried through breakfast and, hours before the start, massed 10 deep along the entire three-mile parade route.

The march started promptly at 9 a. m., to continue without interruption for at least 12 hours. The first section passed the reviewing stand shortly before 10 o'clock. Convention officials said about 50,000 would participate.

Scattered clouds filled the sky and there was a threat of showers as the 1940 national champion Edward H. Monahan Post Band of Sioux City, Ia., moved toward the reviewing stand, followed by National Commander Milo Warner, past national commanders and distinguished guests.

The national champion drum corps from the Commonwealth Edison Post of Chicago preceded delegations from the nation's outlying possessions, Mexico, Canada, Italy and France.

Alabama headed the parade of state departments.

Fort Lauderdale scored with the crowd when the Florida section passed by, its bandmen attired in Seminole Indian costumes.

The Navy and Marine Drum and Bugle Corps from Florida also received great applause. Every member of the unit is a son of a legionnaire, and every man now is on active duty with a navy or marine unit.

Louis Johnson, former national commander and assistant secretary of war, led the West Virginia section.

Louisiana, which is campaigning to take the 1942 convention to New Orleans, grouped its units behind a huge banner declaring "New Orleans means the Legion convention in 1942."

Business sessions, which got off to a rousing start yesterday, with the applauding of every inference of intervention in the foreign conflict, were suspended for the big show.

U. S. Fleet Now Guards Cargoes

permit the arming of merchant vessels. This move would be designed to give merchant ships some protection in their voyages to Iceland, the Red Sea or other areas still open under the neutrality law.

To couple the arming of merchant vessels with an amendment permitting them to travel to Great Britain and other belligerent countries.

To wipe the neutrality law off the statute books.

This leader said that if he were guessing he would assume that Mr. Roosevelt would prefer the third course.

The discussion of future changes in the neutrality act could not compete, however, with the interest that attached to what was happening somewhere out in the Atlantic. At times not announced and along routes unspecified for reasons of military secrecy, various units of the fleet shifted from their previous patrol duties to the grimmer job of hunting down Axis raiders.

The broad outlines of the task were given by Knox yesterday in a speech to the American Legion at Milwaukee when he announced operations would begin today, with the navy ordered to "provide protection as adequate as we can make it for ships of every flag carrying lend-aid supplies between the American continent and the waters adjacent to Iceland."

Moreover, Knox said, "these ships are ordered to capture or destroy by every means at their disposal, Axis controlled submarines or surface raiders encountered in these waters."

That Knox's statement was broader than the "shoot-at-sight" policy set forth last week by President Roosevelt was the expressed belief of naval strategists, who said that adequate protection meant convoys. This was true, they declared, because raiders may slip through the most effective patrols and warship escorts constitute the only certain way of affording protection to all ships at the crucial moment of attack.

To carry out its new task the Atlantic fleet was believed to have substantially in excess of the 125 vessels, including three old battleships, which were assigned to it when it was created more than a year ago. The battleships are the Texas, flagship, Admiral Ernest J. King, the New York and the Arkansas.

For many months this fleet, increased steadily by the addition of vessels newly built and probably also by transfers from the Pacific, has been patrolling the North Atlantic under orders to watch for and report the position of hostile craft. Planes of the fleet air arm have covered other thousands of miles of ocean.

From July 22, 1777, to October 10, 1783, Major General L. Duportail, a Frenchman, was the Chief of Engineers of the Continental Army.

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—There were scattered firm spots in today's stock market but hardly enough to establish anything like a definite trend.

The list moved leisurely over a slightly uneven route from the start and, near the final hour, minus and plus signs of fractions were pretty evenly split. Despite several large blocks of low-priced issues, transfers dwindled to a rate of about 450,000 shares for the full proceedings.

Speculative incentives, brokers said, were scarce and many of those able to take on commitments seemingly held back pending international and congressional developments. The inauguration today of the "shoot-first" order to the navy in relation to Axis raiders in the Atlantic failed to disturb the boardroom calm. The business scene showed little alteration marketwide.

Corporate bonds and commodities exhibited slipping tendencies. Among stocks scoring modest advances at one time or another were Loew's, which made a new high for the year; Armour, Wilson & Co., Pennsylvania, U. S. Steel, Republic Steel, U. S. Rubber, Kennecott, General Electric and Consolidated Aircraft.

In the rear rank most of the time were Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Santa Fe, J. C. Penney, Sears Roebuck, American Can, Owens-Illinois, Glenn Martin and Sperry.

Better actors in a narrow curb were International Petroleum, American Cyanamid "B," N. J. Zinc and Fairchild Engine.

Rifle Team Meets

Jack Jordan, secretary of the Sons of Legion rifle team, has announced an important meeting for this evening at 7 o'clock at the municipal auditorium. All members are requested to attend.

KEY TO BATTLE OF UKRAINE?

Ankara sources reported that the Black Sea seems to have been chosen as the setting for a decisive battle between the Axis and Allies for control of the Ukraine. Arrows show the Axis naval units, operating from Black Sea bases in Rumania and Bulgaria, could hit at Russian land forces behind the present Ukraine front along the Dnieper river, attack the Crimea and strike at Batum, western terminus of the oil line from the Baku oil fields. Dotted area represents territory occupied by Axis forces or under Axis domination.

The Mrs. (after employing a gardener)—Why did you insist upon me hiring short man. The tall one had much the better face.

The Mr.—When you pick a man to work in the garden, my dear, judge him by his overalls. If they're patched at the knees, you want him, if they're patched on the seat, you don't.

Land of Mine

O Land of Mine, beneath untrammelled skies,
The hope of mankind dwells within your ways;
And in your dreams the course of freedom lies.
Clear-charted through the conflict of our days
O Land of Mine, from each dear hill and plain,
From farm and city, field and crowded street,
The songs of loyal hearts lift their refrain
Of praise of liberty, tranquil and sweet.

O Land of Mine, where paths of courage lead
Through darkened hours that dim the cherished goal,
Our faith in you shall be our guide and creed,
Our trust in God, the sinner of the soul.
America! The peace that you enshrine
Will flow across the world, O Land of Mine!

Son—Oh, not for a long time yet.

Foreman—Why?
Son—Cause compensation's set in.

If Confucius would look down the barrel of a shotgun with his finger on the trigger, he'd shoot his mouth off for the last time.

There is one seven-year-old son of a soldier who is taking himself seriously these days. There are two families living together, while the fathers are with the troops. All the children, but the young boy, are girls.

"This war is terrible," exclaimed the young man the other day. "Here I am the only man in the house; look at the dog, even she's a female."

"Everything comes to him who hustles while he waits." —Thomas Edison.

Policeman—Where are you going in such a hurry?
Student—I just bought a new textbook and I am trying to get to class before it goes out of date.

REPUTATION. Winning a reputation is never the final goal of an active life. Reputation is a reward, to be sure. But it is really the beginning, not the end of endeavor. It is a sign that the standards which won such recognition can never again be lowered.

Nurse—I think that patient is regaining consciousness, Doctor. He just tried to blow the foam off his medicine.

This is the age of short cuts to almost everything—education, fortune, production. There is no time these busy days for the "long way around" to anything.

But as someone has well said, "It's well to know the long way around before you attempt to make a short cut."

Haste still makes waste. Knowledge is still the key to many a secret. Experience still has high value. Common sense is not to be discounted.

Robert—So your engagement to that rich deb is broken off. I thought you said she dated on you.

Horace—She did. Her father was the antidote.

Peach Season at Peak in New York

Variety of Ways to Use Fruit Suggested

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 16 — With the peak of the peach season reached this week in New York state, the following recipes, compiled by the state college of home economics at Cornell University, are offered:

Peach Upside-Down Cake

$\frac{1}{4}$  cup of butter
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup of sugar (white, brown or maple)
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon of grated lemon rind
8 peeled peach halves or 2 cups of sliced peeled peaches
5 tablespoons of butter
 $\frac{2}{3}$  cup of sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 cup of milk
 $\frac{2}{3}$  cup of flour
4 teaspoons of baking powder
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon of salt

Cream the  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup of butter and the  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup of sugar and add the grated lemon rind. Spread this mixture on the bottom of a cake pan, about 8 inches by 12 inches in size, and arrange the peach slices or halves, cut side up, on top of it.

To make the cake batter, cream the 5 tablespoons of butter with the  $\frac{2}{3}$  cup of sugar and add the beaten egg. Beat it well. Finally, sift the flour, baking powder, and salt together and add them to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Mix thoroughly and pour the batter carefully over the fruit in the pan. Bake it about 50 minutes at 350 degrees Fahrenheit. Loosen the cake from the sides and bot-

FOR THE LOVE OF PAM

By VIVIEN GREY

Chapter Eight

Quarrel

PAM turned and ran out of the place.

If she could have heard the words Jerry was speaking at the instant she turned from sight of him, the course of her action might have changed.

"Freda," Jerry was saying, "I'm sorry, but it's the only thing I can do. Keep the ring, if you wish, but release me from its promise."

Jerry's voice was slightly impatient. They had been arguing for some time.

Freda's eyes were dark with anger. "You've picked a nice time to ask that. You deserve a medal for your tact!"

"I'm sorry. But this just doesn't seem to be a thing for tact. The important thing is to get to a honest basis. I feel like a man on quicksand right now. I'm in love with one girl and I've told her, and you are still wearing my ring."

"Well," stormily from Freda, "I wouldn't know what to do with a gate if I had one, so you're not going to give it to me!"

"Freda, I should think your pride—"

"Pride?" She turned on him in a fury. "What is pride when you're losing your fiancée to another girl?"

"That's all it is with you," Jerry retorted bitterly. "You don't love me, Freda. I've always known that, and the time has come for me to tell you that I know it. If I'd never seen Pam I'd probably have gone on and made myself satisfied with the poor substitute for love that this thing between us is. It isn't love, Freda, and you know it. It's—well, habit. Proximity. That our mothers have been friends."

"And aren't all those things part of love? At least about the most perfect basis for it?"

"Yes," he said earnestly, "perfect. Freda, if the love is really there. But with you and me, it isn't. We like each other. But that isn't enough."

Around them couples were dancing, girls with bright eyes, boys with happy faces. Jerry looked toward the orchestra as it swelled to a thrilling crescendo. Antoine was no longer in the room. Freda was no longer to be seen. Freddie Romero had the baton. As his eye swept on to the window Jerry saw the local boy who had been flirting with Freda on the beach, still looking in the window. There was something about his face—an intense seeking of the light of Jerry's eyes. Then he said:

"If you want proof that you don't love me, Freda, there you have it." He pointed to the window where the dark, intense face was still discernible in the shadows. "The lad you were flirting with, the lad you're in love doesn't flirt with other men."

Freda smiled coolly. "And this, my darling, is the time to tell you something. Don't look now, but that boy isn't trying to flirt with me. I thought so yesterday, too. But I flattered myself. It seems he only wanted to give me a note to be eventually put into your sister's hands."

Serving Notice

"LENORE? That little snob? You're crazy!"

"Darling, do be careful!" she teased. "You're a little louder."

"Lenore would never bother with him, you know that," he said flatly, ignoring the irony in her voice. "She's sold on the idea of being a countess. And she's got her boy with a title waiting for her in New York. That's another one of those perfect matches with no love lost between the principals. Lenore fancies herself as Countess de Bellefort, and de Bellefort could do with a little Winthrop dough."

"Yes, my sweet, but you forget a little item called human nature, which is as unchangeable as the laws of the Medes and Persians. While the cat is away the mice will play. And de Bellefort isn't here."

"Lenore isn't like that."

"Well, I wouldn't know about that. But I do know it's the bright flame of Lenore's loveliness—not mine—your youth is fluttering around."

Jerry looked at the window. The youth was no longer there. Neither was Lenore visible anywhere on the dance floor. But that meant nothing.

"I don't believe you," he said finally.

Freda smiled. "All right. Now darling, let me make up. I don't really mind your being gay with the girls down here. I know it's only window dressing. See, I've got a pretty kiss for you! Come and get it!"

Jerry laughed gently. "Mink!" he said good-humoredly. "If I hadn't fallen so in love with Pam, I'd succumb to you. Be as sweet as you look, Freda, and give me back my ring, or at least the promise it stands for. I don't really want the diamond, Freda. Accept that with my best wishes."

"It isn't best wishes I want from you, Jerry."

He looked at the girl earnestly. His arm was around her as they tom of the pan with a spatula and turn it onto a serving platter, upside down. Serve it warm, with whipped cream if desired.

Peach Salad

Chill fresh peaches. Pare them just before serving them, or prepare them in advance, wrap them in waxed paper and place them in the refrigerator. Fill the hollows with cream cheese and chopped nuts and serve them on lettuce with French dressing.

Peach Preserves

Peel and slice sound, firm-ripe peaches. Add  $\frac{2}{3}$  as much sugar as prepared fruit and let the fruit stand with the sugar for several hours or overnight, to draw out the juice. Boil the mixture until it is thick and clear.

A little salt will help to bring out the fruit flavor. Usually about  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon is used for 3 or 4 pounds of fruit. If the peaches are very ripe, add lemon juice. Use began a slow stepping to the music.

"I can't give you what you should have from the man you marry, Freda. The least and the most any girl can get out of marriage is, from my point of view, Freda, I'd never thought much of that sort of thing until Pam began to do things to my ideas and ideals."

"It's the place, darling. It's made you romantic."

They had danced through the door and out onto the piazza that looked down over the garden, lovely under its soft lights. A far-off boat whistle sounded faintly through the night. A white Persian cat moved through the shadows, like something floating, disembodied. Scent of flowers came in waves on the breeze. The sky was gemmed with an infinity of stars. Jerry's voice came through the quiet beauty:

"Freda, make an honest man of me. Release me."

She turned to him impatiently. "What a one-track mind you have! Darling, can't you put some other record on that precious mouth-organ of yours?"

"All right. So you won't. Is that it? Well, I'm releasing myself then, this minute. I'm serving notice, Freda. You and I are no longer engaged."

"That's only one man's opinion, darling. It takes two to make a bargain, and two to break it. Anyhow, I'm going to save you from yourself. From your foolishness. Words, words, words, thought Jerry. Would he never be able to untangle his life? Would Freda never come to her senses and see that he was asking something that was best for both of them?

Antoine

MEANWHILE, Pam moved on the night. Once out of the building and off of the premises, she didn't hurry. There was a friendliness about the early morning quiet of Key West that Pam liked. She knew every nook and corner of the town so well she had no fear.

Pam didn't turn at the sound of a car behind her. But she started when a voice spoke her name.

"Pam! Wait a minute!"

The car had stopped beside her. Someone was getting out and coming around toward her. Pam knew a momentary impulse to run, but forced herself to stand and wait. That not giving way to her fears or impulses was something she had inherited from her mother who had, in turn, inherited it from her own New England grandmother.

"Pam, I saw you go," it was Edmond Antoine's voice. "You frightened me. Alone on the street at this hour..."

Pam smiled through the faint light. There was no use of being angry at Antoine. He'd been a party to that bet, but he hadn't done what Jerry had—made love to her, tried to make her think he was sincere while the others of his set looked on and laughed.

"But there's nothing to be afraid of," she said easily.

"That's what you think." He caught her hands. "If you knew how I feel this minute you'd be frightened to death. I'd like to steal you!"

Pam forced laughter to her lips, above tears she'd been struggling against.

"You're lovely, Pam. As lovely as a Chopin waltz." Then, bending closer: "Pam, I believe you're crying! What happened?"

"I'm not crying. Don't be silly!" The tears that she had been holding back refused to be held longer.

"I'm sorry," was his quick and understanding reply. "I beg your pardon for a stupid mistake. Now will you let me take you back to the party? You see, it's my party and I really want you there very much."

"No, I'd rather go home right now."

"Don't you like my party? Wasn't it a nice one?"

It was, she acknowledged hesitantly. Then she decided to be frank with him. "But you see I just don't belong there." She was sorry the minute she'd said it, and rushed on trying to cover it: "You see, I'm a working girl. I have things to do, so I've got to get home and get some rest. But it was a lovely party."

Antoine looked down through the dim light at her and seemed to read something in her voice and eyes that had not been in her words.

"Then you will let me take you home," he asked. And when she hesitated, "Please, I'm not comfortable about your being on the street alone."

There was something so sincere and so nice about his voice Pam knew he meant only what he had said. She allowed him to help her into the car.

"I don't know what I'll tell Jerry about this," he said as he opened the door for her in her own drive. "I mean, taking you home instead of back to the party."

"Don't tell him anything, please," Pam begged.

Antoine looked down at her. "Am I allowed to say I wish Jerry had not seen you first?" he asked gently.

Peach and Apple Jam

Use equal parts of diced peaches and apples, and add  $\frac{3}{4}$  as much sugar as fruit. If the apple skins are a good color, do not peel them. Boil the mixture until it is thick and clear.

Peach, Apple and Rhubarb Jam.

Use equal parts of rhubarb, peaches, and apples, and use  $\frac{3}{4}$  as much sugar as fruit. Boil the mixture until it is thick and clear.

Time-Payment Law Beginning to Show Its Effects Locally

chasers of cars had payments extended over a two-year period.

On durable goods such as mechanical refrigerators, washing machines, ironers, stoves, radios, musical instruments made primarily of metal, room air-coolers, sewing machines and electric dishwashers the down payment must be at least 20 per cent while 15 per cent is demanded on furnaces, water heaters, water pumps, plumbing fixtures, home air conditioning systems, etc.

In the lower bracket with a 10 per cent down payment comes household furniture, pianos and electric organs. While the down payment is 10 per cent the monthly payments because of the 18 months limit consequently are higher and it is this feature which many furniture dealers fear will affect their business.

Gives Viewpoint

One large furniture house in Kingston pointed out that newly married couples furnishing a home for the first time require a considerable amount of furniture. With a limited income the monthly payment must be watched closely and after determining how much can be spared for the monthly installments, under the new restriction 18 monthly payments are arranged. Under the new restriction installment payments may not be extended beyond 18 months.

"After the couple has arranged for the payments," said the local dealer, "probably to the full extent of their ability to pay, they find they are still short some smaller essential items. We used to allow them to purchase such items and if their budget would not allow larger payments we would extend the time payment a few months to hold down the monthly payments to the same figure which had been originally arranged and which the couple could afford. Now we will not be able to extend payments beyond the 18 months period and if the couple cannot afford increased payments, we will lose that business and the couple will have to get along without the added furnishings."

If the couple can manage additional payments, a new contract can be entered into and the merchandise sold with 18 months to pay the balance but in no case can payments be reduced by extending the time of payment beyond the 18 months specified in the new regulation.

Two Years to Pay

One dealer pointed out that in many instances on durable articles customers formerly took two years to pay and in some instances longer in order to reduce the monthly or weekly payments to a point which could be met.

When the announcement of the new credit curb was made on September 1 it was stated by the federal reserve officials in Washington that no great dislocation in business was anticipated because of the mildness of the regulations. Since then it has been found that department store sales gains have been materially cut for the first half of September. Although department store sales, as shown by the Federal Reserve Board index, were 12 per cent higher for the first week of September than for the corresponding week of 1940, the increase over a year ago was markedly smaller than in the weeks immediately preceding the institution of the installment credit regulations.

The preceding week sales were 30 per cent above the corresponding 1940 week period while for the first week in September after the credit curb regulation went into effect there was but a 12 per cent increase in business over the first week in September of 1940.

The increase in business for 1941 over 1940 thus dropped from a 30 per cent increase in department store sales the last week of August to 12 per cent over 1940 for the first week of September indicating that even in the first week of the new credit regulation period business had felt the effects of the new regulation with a material drop in the business "boom."

Hi-Y Officers Elected Monday

Norman Hanson Is Named
President of Club

Norman Hanson of 190 North Manor avenue was elected president of the Kingston Hi-Y at a regular meeting of the club at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Ed Luedtke of 15 Staples street was elected vice-president for the coming year. James Collins was the club's choice for treasurer and Hutch Van Kleeck of New Paltz was elected secretary. Donald Dumm was appointed program chairman with Mark Connelly and Jason Goumas, members of the committee.

George Goodfellow and Richard Whiston of the high school faculty will act as advisors to the club. The Kingston Hi-Y Club is one of 6,750 clubs which are a part of a nation wide high school youth movement working for Christian democracy. The purpose of Hi-Y is to create, maintain, and extend high school standards of Christian character throughout the school community. Over 200,000 youths are enrolled in clubs throughout the United States.

The local club will discuss at its meeting next Monday night, "The Purpose and Platforms of Hi-Y". At the first meeting in October new members for the year will be elected.

To Organize Club

There will be a meeting of all residents of Phenicia, Allaben, Shandaken and Pine Hill who are interested in organizing a Townsend Club, in Phenicia, at the Fireman's Hall, Church street, on Wednesday evening this week, at 8 o'clock. Officers and members of Kingston Townsend Club No. 1 are sponsoring this meeting. Miss Mildred Niles, president of the Kingston club will preside. Members of the Trail Blazer committee of this club have recently canvassed several villages and have secured more than the number required to apply for a charter. Residents of any other neighboring towns are also invited to attend. Frederick G. Brooks from Schenectady, Townsend national representative for eastern New York, will be present to explain the Townsend movement and to answer any questions pertaining to the plan. Mr. Brooks will also show movies on the economic conditions of the country and the need of the Townsend plan.

Dodgers Continue Streak

The Wilbur Dodgers won their sixth straight game when they defeated the fast stepping Tannersville nine by a score of 7 to 3. Bob Purvis and "Red" McLean led the hitting attack with three hits each. Private "Bud" Zoller who replaced Joe Mahar at first base poked out a three bagger. "Puck" Davis was on the mound for the Dodgers and held the mountaineers to seven blows. The Dodgers send out a challenge to the Boiceville club and the Chichester nine for a game September 21 or the 28. September 28 the Dodgers expect to close the season.

Willkie Supports Mayor La Guardia For Re-Election

Charges Davies Brought
Foreign Policy Issue
Into Campaign to Oust Fusionist

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, seeking a third term, faced John R. Davies for the Republican mayoral nomination today with the support of Wendell L. Willkie—against whom he campaigned in the 1940 presidential election.

Willkie announced in Washington he would vote for LaGuardia against his fellow party member Davies, former president of the National Republican Club.

"Our country's foreign policy has no place in a municipal campaign," said Willkie. "But Mr. Davies has made it an issue. He is advocating an isolationist and non-aggressive attitude. Therefore, if he is nominated, the country and the world will interpret his victory as a repudiation by the Republicans of New York of our country's foreign policy. Such an interpretation would be extremely unfortunate at this time."

"For this reason, in particular, I shall vote for the nomination of LaGuardia," attending the American Legion convention in Milwaukee, planned to fly here in time to vote. He called Willkie's statement an expression of "the most generous and sporting attitude taken in politics in a long time."

The mayor already had been granted the unofficial support of the city's Fusionists and of the American Labor party right wing, in the only major contest in the New York city primaries.

Seeking the Democratic nomination for mayor, District Attorney William O'Dwyer of Brooklyn, an Irish immigrant and former policeman, was unopposed.

To fill the Manhattan district attorney's office, in the place of Thomas E. Dewey, who decided not to be a candidate, Frank S. Hogan, Dewey's executive assistant, was the choice of all parties after having been drafted for the post first by Tammany Hall, the New York county Democratic organization.

Because of the absence of contests for most offices, it was expected that only a small percentage of the city's 3,000,000 registered voters would vote.

Winne Gets Jail Term As Probation Violator

Malvin Winne, who pleaded guilty to unlawful entry last June and was given a suspended sentence by County Judge J. Edward Conway, recently was returned to the jurisdiction of the court by Chief Probation Officer Lawrence M. Jensen on a charge of violation of probation.

When arraigned in court Monday Winne said he was not guilty of the charge under which he was picked up as a probation violator and the case was postponed until Joseph Campbell, counsel for Winne, could be present in court.

This morning at county chambers Winne, appearing with counsel, made no objection to the charge of violation of probation and Judge Conway revoked the suspension of sentence which had been pronounced last June and remanded Winne to the custody of Sheriff Molyneux to serve out the year sentence.

'JUST A DROP MORE'—Like some human tipplers "Cocky," a 40-year-old parrot in Sydney, New South Wales, becomes sentimental and says "Cocky wants a kiss" after he's had wine and beer. He usually suggests: "Cocky wants a drink."

GRANDPA AT 33—Passing out cigars, Frank Alessandro, 33, of Rochester, claims to be youngest grandfather in New York state, since the birth of Samuel Fasone, Jr., Aug. 10. The boy will be baptized Sept. 14, just before mother's 16th birthday.

ENVOY—A Californian, Willys R. Peck (above), has been nominated by F.D.R. to be minister to Thailand. He is now counselor of the U.S. embassy in Peiping, China.

WHIRLY'S TAIL 'SHORTENED'—That long tail that's been Whirlyway's trademark went up in a braid for the muddy Travers Stakes at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., which Whirly won, pushing his earnings past $275,000. Jockey Alfred "Slim" Robertson is up.

DUET—With British colors on hat and bag, Eileen Nolan of Newark, N. J., combines fall modishness with a tribute to the Canadian city she's been visiting—Montreal, Quebec.

DOGS' DAYS—Frankie, pet dachshund of British Ambassador Halifax (above), proves as camera-wise as Falla, the President's Scotty who attended recent sea trysts with Churchill.

COACH—New head football coach at the University of Southern California is Justin "Sam" Barry (above), who succeeds his long-time superior, the late Coach Howard Jones, Jones died July 27.

DAM NEARS COMPLETION IN TENNESSEE VALLEY—Power production by December—several months ahead of schedule—is hoped for, for above Cherokee dam, TVA's $40,000,000 project on the Holston river near Jefferson City, Tenn.

WHAT'S THAT NAME?—That pitcher whose name sometimes worries the sports writers, Alejandro Carrasquel of the Washington Senators, reached Aug. 16 as only American League hurler without a defeat. He's from Caracas, Venezuela.

COSMIC OR COMIC—Lou Nova, the disciple of Yogi teachings who says his muscles are controlled to such a degree that he can throw a "shock, pull or bullet" punch with either hand, shows off the "cosmic punch" stance he hopes will work well against Champion Joe Louis. They meet Sept. 19 in New York, and this will be their first encounter.

THERE GOES PART OF HER SHIRT—Barbara Kent, Briton who's learning to fly at a Long Island flying school, gives up this part of her shirt-tail gladly, for it spells her induction into the Tail Feathers club and means she's solo-ed safely. Chief Instructor M. E. Grevenberg tucks up the labeled shirt-piece which was snipped off by Helen Peck (left).

ALL'S NOT WELL WITH AL—Looks like a mighty tight squeeze for the over-sized baseball glove that Al Schacht, baseball's professional clown who usually cuts capers at the world series, brought along for his plane trip out of Kansas City. It's just one of Al's many "props" for his appearances before the nation's baseball fans.

LIFTING DYNAMITE—Not until this mean-tempered shark is safely lowered into the boat can the fishermen relax, and then go on to take in other sharks hooked on their 3,000-foot steel chain line strung on the ocean floor. They're in the shark-catching business off the Florida coast, and 50 sharks measuring from 12 to 20 feet is a good day's haul.

Librarians to Meet
At Lake Mohonk

Librarians all over the state are preparing for a week of professional stimulation, discussion, and gaiety when the New York Library Association holds its 51st annual conference at Lake Mohonk, September 22-27.

With "The Library in 1950" as the theme of the conference, Rebecca B. Rankin, librarian of the Municipal Reference Library in New York city and president of the association, predicts lively, forward-looking meetings, with emphasis on services and developments during this decade.

Wednesday afternoon of conference week librarians will be "Open House" guests at the Franklin D. Roosevelt Library and the James Roosevelt Library in Hyde Park.

Authors who will address the conference include James Daugherty, illustrator and author of children's books; Babette Deutsch, author and poet; Fjeril Hess, author of "Buckaroo" and editor of "Girl Scouts"; Kenneth M. Gould, author of "South American Roundabout"; Mary Brooks Picken, fashion authority; Irita Van Doren and Lewis Gannett, both of the New York "Herald Tribune," who will appear on the radio program "Speaking of Books," to be broadcast direct from Lake Mohonk, featuring Jan Valtin, author of "Out of the Night."

Other highlights of the conference include a session devoted to Civil Service; one on "Libraries for Soldiers and Army Camps"; a "Film Forum" in which discussion will follow a showing of "The City"; round tables on many library topics; address by distinguished guest of honor, and presentation of scholarship awards.

Officers of the New York Library Association, assisting Miss Rankin with conference plans, include: vice-president, R. W. G. Vail Albany; secretary-treasurer, Winifred B. Hunt, Pelham; council: Mabel Case, Batavia; Juanita Kersey, Oswego; Susanna Young, Albany; Bernice E. Hodges, Rochester; Helmer L. Webb, Schenectady; Ethel M. Close, Baldwin; Paul North Rice, New York city.

Architects Meet
At Watson Hollow

Last Saturday afternoon and evening, the Mid-Hudson Valley Architectural Society met at the Watson Hollow Inn, West Shokan, Ulster county. President Myron S. Teller, owner of the inn, was self appointed dinner chairman and presided at the meeting which followed a delicious beefsteak dinner. Mr. Teller was aided in dinner arrangements by Charles S. Keefe and Albert E. Milliken, both Kingston members.

The members assembled in the afternoon to enjoy a social gathering and outing. Some relaxed in groups on the lawn and porches overlooking the Ashokan reservoir while others more actively indulged in games of horse-shoe pitching or strolls around the beautiful Catskill mountain countryside.

Two guests of the society were Paul Heuber, president of the Central New York Chapter, American Institute Architects, and Charles R. Ellis, a director of the New York State Association of Architects, of which the local society is a constituent member. Mr. Heuber and Mr. Ellis represented the N.Y.S.A. of A. Convention to be held in Syracuse next October 16, 17 and 18, and urged local members to attend.

Mr. Ellis spoke briefly of material and subjects that will make the convention worthwhile. The entire 10th floor of the Hotel Syracuse will be devoted to space for exhibits by architect members of the association, between 40 and 50 different manufacturers, and the Tenth National Ceramics Show. On Friday night, October 16, there will be a formal banquet. Throughout the course of the three-day convention, open discussions will be held on housing, fees, state labor laws, priorities, the co-operation between architects and engineers, and other subjects of allied interest.

Mr. Ellis requested that the local society send its exhibit, recently held in Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Kingston, to Syracuse. After discussion, the society members voted to do so.

Because of the lateness of the hour, the regular business of the society shortened. Unfinished and new business were deferred to the next meeting. A nominating committee was chosen to select candidates for the election of officers for the coming year. Those on the committee are: Myron S. Teller, Kingston; Gordon S. Marvel and Herbert T. Seipel, Newburgh; Louis Booth and Charles F. Pitts, Poughkeepsie. Elections will be held at Newburgh, October 9. Herbert T. Seipel was elected to act as chairman of the convention committee to replace Eugene H. Callison who has moved his business to North Carolina. Gordon S. Marvel, Newburgh, was appointed dinner chairman for the next regular meeting.

Members present at the meeting were: Louis Booth, Bernard McCabe and guest, Miss Lucy Haden, Don P. Emley, Rolf C. Dreyer, Ralph P. Lovelock and guest, Miss Edith Swanson, Mt. Tremper, Charles F. Pitts and Walter J. Spross of Poughkeepsie, Harry Halverson, Charles S. Keefe, Hugh McCullough, John J. O'Connor, Augustus R. Schrowang and Myron S. Teller of Kingston. Herbert T. Seipel and guest, Miss Janet Zuchowski, of Newburgh. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. David Lubin, West Shokan.

Schuster-Falk
Saugerties, Sept. 16—Miss Mary F. Falk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Falk of Blue Mountain and Henry E. Schuster of Saugerties were married in the Blue Mountain Reformed Church Sunday, September 7. The Rev. Eugene C. Duryee officiated. Mrs. Duryee played the wedding march.

The bride wore a white chenille marquisette gown with finger tip veil. She carried white gladioli. The groom wore a tuxedo. Mrs. Merwin Hommel of Blue Mountain who wore a blue net dress with pink accessories and carried pink gladioli. William Schuster of New York city was his brother's best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Lake George. They are now residing at the Hauck apartments, Washington avenue, Saugerties.

Newlyweds Honored
At Surprise Party
The Sunday School officer and teachers of the First Reformed Church gave a surprise party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Miller who were married recently. A gift of a rose colored blanket was presented from the group. Refreshments were served including a wedding cake.

Those attending were the Misses Elizabeth Turner, Caroline Little, Donna Keefe, Irene Van Hovenburg, Audrey Britcliffe, Caroline McCreery, Mrs. Charles Palmer, Mrs. Oliver Christian, Mrs. Henry Reed, Mrs. Anne Elmendorf, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Page, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Greenland, the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ten Hagen, Herbert Fister, and W. Ralston Dennis.

Newkirk-Everett
Miss E. Genevieve Everett of 51 Lucas avenue and Warren M. Newkirk of 36 Liberty street, were united in marriage on Sunday by the Rev. William J. McVey of the First Presbyterian Church. They were attended by Norman J. and Doris Sande of Lake Katrine.

Camp Name Chosen
At Board Meeting

The Board of Directors of the Y. W. C. A. held their first fall meeting last evening at the "Y" Camp in High Woods. A picnic supper was enjoyed around the outdoor fireplace. Following the supper a business session was held.

The name for the camp was chosen last evening and is "Triangle Acres" most appropriate since the blue triangle is the insignia of the Y. W. C. A. and the camp grounds are in the shape of a triangle. This name was not included in those suggested last spring during the contest to find a name. At the time there was no name submitted that seemed suitable for the camp and "Triangle Acres" is the result of several suggestions made through the summer season.

Main items of business conducted were the camp reports and membership. The camp reports were gratifying for not only during the reserve period but later members took advantage of the new camp grounds and the financial records it is expected that the camp will be self supporting.

Plans were made for a membership tea to be held at the Y. W. C. A., Thursday, September 25. Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, chairman of membership will have charge of the arrangements. It was decided at the meeting to have the membership year run from September to September to correspond with the activities season and members are asked to renew their memberships as soon as possible.

General arrangements for last evening were made by Mrs. Charles Terwilliger. Those attending were Mrs. A. Noble Graham, Mrs. Charles Arnold, Mrs. Theron Culver, Mrs. Joseph Clark, Mrs. Herbert Fister, Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, Mrs. William Kingman, Mrs. John MacKinnon, Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, Mrs. John B. Sterley, Miss Mary Staples, Miss Margaret Schuetz, Mrs. Adam Thiel, Mrs. Maxwell Taylor, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, Mrs. Harry Walker and Miss Jean Estey.

Tri-Hi Club Holds First Meeting
The Tri-Hi Club of the Y. W. C. A. held its first fall meeting and reorganization yesterday at the "Y". There were 86 who registered for this year's club. Officers are: President, Miss Frances Hainer; vice president, Miss Helen Krusenski; secretary, Miss Marion Ralfe; and treasurer, Miss Rosemary Murphy. The secretary and treasurer gave the annual reports.

The following committee co-chairmen have been named for the coming year. Social, Judy Fessenden, Betty Boyce; program, Kathryn Phinny, Doris Bouton; service, Edna Short, Marie McAndrew; dramatics, Dorothy Van Etten, Anna Marie Manfro; music, Shirley Riehl, Beverly Bonesteel; membership, Charlotte Cooper, Alice McGowan; sports, Audrey Gillan, Mary Telepa.

The new high school advisor, Mrs. Stewart Wylie, was present at the meeting. Plans were made for the overnight camping trip at the camp this week-end, September 19 and 20. About 35 to 40 members are planning to attend.

Business Girls' Hold

Week-end Outing at Camp
The Business Girls' Club of the Y. W. C. A. held a week-end camping outing at the "Y" camp in High Woods. Members who attended were Miss Helen Anderson, Miss Lucy Berryann, Miss Adiska Conno, Miss Beatrice Elias, Miss Nellie Elmendorf, Miss Jean Estey, Miss Elise Fielder, Miss Helen Gronemeyer, Miss Jessie Goodsell, Miss Stella Ketterson, Miss Maithilda Martin, Miss Margaret Schuetz, Miss Bertha Waterman and Mrs. Henry Bickert.

Local Men Are Home
On Naval Furlough

Three young Kingston men are spending a nine-day leave, following graduation from the Naval Training Station at their homes. Robert Lester Hamma of 26 Wilbur avenue and George LeRoy Marks of 54 First avenue, both joined the regular navy on minority enlistments with the consent of their parents. They will be discharged when they reach the age of 21. Walter Raymond Lange of 237 East Strand signed up in the Naval Reserve for four years or the duration of the emergency.

Robert Hamma left Kingston High School to go to work. Before joining the navy, he played center field for the Wilbur Dodgers. Following in the footsteps of his father, the late Lester T. Hamma, who served in the navy as a machinist's mate, he hopes to make a career of the service and achieve the same rating as that once held by his father.

Walter Lange, whose cousin, Edward Glass, is now serving with the navy, left Kingston High School some years ago to seek work as a mechanic. First interested in the navy by friends who were enthusiastic about it, he hopes to learn more about his trade while in the service. He is seeking a rating in one of the mechanical branches of the navy.

George Marks, who left high school in order to join the navy, hopes to make a career in the naval service. By hobby an enthusiastic model maker, he intends to try for the rating of gunner's mate.

Following the completion of their leaves these men will return to Newport, where they will await assignment either to sea duty or to one of the many trade schools operated by the navy.

Miss Ella Guido Wed

To Dominick Clausi
Mr. and Mrs. A. Guido of East Kingston announce the marriage of their daughter, Ella, to Dominick Clausi, son of Mrs. Teresa Clausi, of East Kingston. The marriage took place at St. Columba's Church in East Kingston, August 31. Miss Peggy Clausi was maid of honor and John Clausi was best man. They are sister and brother of the bridegroom. Mr. and Mrs. Clausi are now at home, 28 Lindsay avenue.

Walden Students to Enter
Colleges and Normal Schools

Students from Walden who have graduated from the Walden High School are enrolling at colleges and normal schools. Among those planning to continue their education in this field are: John Johnson, son of Mrs. Jane Johnson, who will enter Blair Academy; Gordon Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bernard, and Robert Kimball, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kimball, Cortland Normal School; Richard Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Hope College, Holland, Mich.; Harry Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Lee, Brothers' College, Morristown; Robert Houghtaling, son of Earl Houghtaling, Ithaca College to study music; Janice Didsbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Didsbury, Katherine Gibbs School, New York city; Miss Doris Bottomley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bottomley, New Paltz Normal School.

Plattekill Woman
Heads W. C. T. U.About 50 Delegates Attend
County Convention

Mrs. Emma G. Carpenter of Plattekill was re-elected president of the Ulster County W. C. T. U., for her 10th successive year as head of the organization, at the annual county convention held on Tuesday, September 9, in the church hall in Ulster Park.

Other officers elected included Mrs. George W. Shults of Clinton avenue, vice president; Mrs. Lois Black of Modena, corresponding secretary; Miss Belle Brinckhoff of Highland, recording secretary and Mrs. Ethel Swift of Highland as treasurer.

The convention was attended by some 50 delegates from the local unions in Ulster county. Mrs. Carpenter, although she had suffered a sprained ankle, presided at the opening session that morning.

Reports of the various activities of the organization were made. Mrs. Whiston of Kingston gave an interesting report on fairs and exhibits. She was reappointed director of this department and consented to serve only if volunteers from other parts of the county would render assistance at the time of the county fair.

Mrs. Kate Covert, now a resident of the Kingston Home, submitted an interesting report. Another report prepared by Miss Clara Saulpaugh on Sunday School work was read. Miss Saulpaugh was unable to attend the meeting.

Milton Union shone out in the flower mission report, their sewing and knitting for soldiers and refugees being very extensive. Milton's labors in this project were listed under sunshine activities of the Flower Mission department.

Other reports were also received. The memorial service honored the memory of Jane Clark of Milton, whose voice used to be heard in the musical programs of W. C. T. U. gatherings; Mary Amelia Wygant of Plattekill Union and Mrs. R. T. Cookingham of Ellenville.

A demonstration conducted by Mrs. Swift of Highland, in which a dozen women took part and singing led by Mrs. Young of Milton, proved most interesting. Mrs. Young's voice had been heard in the worship periods ushering in both the morning and afternoon sessions, and her Bible readings spoke directly to our times, revealing the needs, the reasons for failure, the rewards of endurance, and the promise of victory over the oppressor.

The Rev. Lester H. Hays of Woodstock Methodist Church gave an interesting address, taking his topic from the 11th chapter of Hebrews.

The resolutions committee composed of Mrs. Shults, Mrs. Kate Covert of Washington avenue, Mrs. Young of Milton and Mrs. H. Relyea of New Paltz reported, extending a vote of thanks and appreciation to the hosts of the convention.

Personal Notes

Sports Roundup

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Sept. 16 (The Special News Service)—Tip-off on the pennant race is that when the Dodgers started accepting World Series reservations yesterday, the Cardinals still were turning them down in spite of a rush that developed after Sunday's double-header victory....Judging from yesterday, it looks like the Cards are the sprinters and the Bums the ones to go the long route and finish like Whirlaway (before Narragansett)....The fans are beginning to get a little sour on the daily battles with the umpires, though...which reminds us of the recent comment from Thomas Jefferson Hickey, ex-president of the American Association. Hickey said he couldn't pull for the Dodgers because he couldn't forget the headaches Larry MacPhail gave him in Columbus....After watching 50 games in 12 days during his National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress Tournament, Ray Dumont went to Chicago for a vacation and, of course, saw a ball game....

Today's Guest Star

James E. Doyle, Cleveland Plain Dealer: "If Rookie Henry Edwards should manage to stick with the Indians as long as the other Henry Edwards did, he'd probably be busting in the baseball hall of fame....The other Henry Edwards, of course, is the present American League director, who was with the Tribe for almost 30 years—as the Plain Dealer's baseball writer."

Service Dept.

Private Andy Neidung, intercollegiate two-mile record holder, who was inducted recently at Camp Upton, N. Y., runs two or three miles around camp after supper every night and hopes to continue in competition this winter....Andy figures the army could work up quite a track meet among such fellows as John Woodruff, Frank Slater, Chuck Fenske, Johnny Quigley, Tommy Garland and Howie Bulger....Harry "Moose" McCormick, the old-time Giant outfielder, now athletic director of the first airforce, is paying more attention to marathons than baseball these days but come spring he is likely to come up with a smart ball team or two....Lynn C. Doyle of the Philadelphia Bulletin suggests that half-price football seats for service men aren't a great help, because $21 less deductions would just about pay for two seats, a cab and a bite to eat for the girl friend....The boys up at Pine Camp, N. Y., had some expert refereeing for their boxing show the other night....Lou Ambers handled the job....This dept. could use a few more contributions from the camps, especially those away from our home district.

Odds, and Some Ends

The Westminster College parson in Utah will have Paul Deacon for their coach this year....Figure this one out: Al Blozis, the big Georgetown tackle, reduced from 250 to 230 pounds while he was working in a brewing company's laboratory this summer, and George Perlich, the other tackle, gained weight laboring in a Michigan iron mine....The winner of the Dapper Dan Club's contest to decide which fight should have the top spot on last night's card at Pittsburgh was Mrs. Betty Runyan, who never had seen a pro fight....For the first time in 14 years the Indians are making an eastern swing without a troupe of newspapermen in attendance....Andy Simpson, one-armed golf pro at Lake Lackawanna, N. J., has equalled par 64 for the course and has a flock of 67 and 68's.

Denies Sale

Philadelphia, Sept. 16 (AP)—John B. Kelly, national director of physical training, heads a syndicate that is ready to offer $500,000 for the National League baseball Phillies.

"A syndicate with which I am associated is anxious to give Philadelphia a winning baseball team in the National League," Kelly disclosed. "We expect to make an offer within the next few days and hope we can acquire the controlling block of stock."

Kelly, champion Olympic sculler back in the early 1920's and former Democratic chairman of Philadelphia, said big Jim Peterson, who pitched for the Athletics 10 years ago, probably would handle negotiations with Gerry Nugent, president of the tail-end Phillies.

However, Peterson, now in the advertising business, and Nugent both professed ignorance. "I haven't seen Kelly in months," Nugent said. "In spite of this talk no one has made me an offer. If a man really intends to buy something it is likely he will tell the newspapers first? It seems silly to me."

Nugent and Mrs. Nugent, vice president of the club, own a majority of the club's 5,000 shares.

Local Bowling Alley Proprietors Issue Statement

Charge Peter Keresman's Statements Failed to Fully Present Facts About Changes

Editor, The Freeman:

In recent issues of the Freeman and Leader there have appeared statements reportedly made by Peter Keresman, president of the City Bowling League, concerning matters that are of prime interest to all bowlers in this community. We feel that those statements have failed to fully present the facts. They assert body that certain bowling managements have acted in a most unfair and discriminatory manner. It is in an effort to correct the erroneous impression that has been thus created, that this letter is written. It is hoped that by this means the bowlers and the public in general will be apprised of the actual state of affairs.

The changes contemplated for league bowling games during the forthcoming season are these: (1) The first session of bowling is to start at 7 p. m. and the second session of 9 p. m.; and (2) The cost of three league games is to be five cents more than last year, an increase of less than two cents per game.

As to the change in starting time, last year some leagues bowled, for example, at the Central Recreation Alleys and others at the Emmerick Recreation Alleys. Some of these teams started at 7, some at 7:15, and others at 7:30. Under the new plan, only those starting last year at 7:15 and 7:30 would be affected. Mr. Keresman has stated that thereby the City League is being "forced" to make a radical departure from the starting time of previous bowling years. As a practical matter there are over 90 per cent of the bowling establishments in the United States using this plan of 7 and 9 for over the past decade.

As to the increase in price: In the first place, no official has any power, right or authority under the rules of the American Bowling Congress to bestow a raise in price for bowling. May we quote at some length from an editorial appearing in the September 1, 1941 issue of the official publication of the American Bowling Congress, "Bowling" which reads in part as follows:

"The City bowling association is a powerful organization. It is vested by the American Bowling Congress with nearly as much authority as the Congress itself possesses. One point must be obvious, however, and should be kept in mind by all city association officials constantly. No city association supercedes the American Bowling Congress in any respect and none has any authority which the congress does not also have."

Now the American Bowling Congress has no authority whatsoever to protest the rates which bowling alley proprietors may charge for bowling. This important matter may be decided only by the bowling proprietor and each individual league which bowls in its establishment. If the American Bowling Congress does not have the right to challenge the proprietor's bowling charge, you may be quite certain that no city association has it.

The only groups who may discuss this problem with the bowling proprietor are the leagues themselves. There must be no coercion, nor attempted coercion, on the part of the city association to influence a single one of its leagues in this matter.

The federal government has seemed to tax each bowling establishment to the extent of $15.00 per alley bed per year. Similarly, the proprietor's other costs may prompt the general increase of prices of all other commodities, including hired help, rent supplies and countless other items of miscellaneous.

Let us be honest and fair with ourselves and with our genial host, the bowling proprietor. He is effected by the same conditions which effect us. He has every right to expect a fair return from an expensive investment.

Hence it is our honest opinion that Mr. Keresman had no right to question the proposed price changes, nor had he any right to attempt to have or influence others to do so. That was a matter solely within the jurisdiction of the individual leagues to handle.

Now the change in starting time is not an arbitrary or unreasonable one, nor is it intended to thereby discriminate against any league or leagues. It is purely a matter of business expediency. The new heavy burden of a $15.00 tax per alley, which in the case of the Central Recreation Alleys, amounts to $240.00, and Emmerick Recreation, which amounts to $120.00, is only one item with which we must contend. Let us give you a concrete example: In a letter dated March 28, 1941, the Central Recreation Alleys received from the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., price quotations, stating the then present prices, new prices effective April 1, 1941, and those to be effective on Oct. 1, 1941. To mention one of the many items, Red Crown King pins were listed currently at $11.85 per set, which was to rise to $12.65 per set, and after April 1, 1941, and thereafter to jump to $13.50 on Oct. 1, 1941. Despite these prices on July 21, 1941, another letter was received from the same concern stating that after July 31, the cost of these same pins would be $14.50 per set. This was already $1.00 more per set than the price previously announced, which was not supposed to be operative until October. In addition the letter accompanying these new prices stated that they were all subject to change without notice. These let-terms point out that the increases in costs of material, labor and possibility of still further heavy taxes being imposed to enable our

Alfson Calls Oklahoma Tops; Says Nebraska too Hard-Hit

MATTHEWS AND JACOBS: Just part of a fine backfield array

By WARREN ALFSON

Nebraska's All-American Guard

Lincoln, Neb.—Nebraska won the 1941 Big Six crown and as much as I'd like to be able to gaze into a crystal ball and pick my former teammates to repeat, I'm afraid it would be a vision based on wishes—not facts. Oklahoma looks like the team to beat.

Major Bliff Jones lost too many men from his Rose Bowl outfit. Nine starters, five second team men, and six others are gone, some through graduation and the others to the armed forces.

The Biffer has some good men returning, though, so that his biggest problem is reserves. Big Vike Francis should rumble and roll at the fullback spot and handle a good share of placekicking and punting. Allen Zikmund will go good at halfback, too.

Warren Alfson

At Oklahoma, where the Sooners freely admitted last year that they were merely building up to 1941, the new coach, Dewey Luster, finds a pleasant outlook.

Battling with Nebraska for second place behind Oklahoma, I'd say, will be Missouri. The Tigers come up this year with an exceptional sophomore class. They'll miss Paul Christman's passing and generalship, but keep an eye on Red Wade, a capable sophomore replacement who passes from either side.

Iowa State, Kansas State and Kansas University probably will fight it out in the lower division and the cellar position will perhaps be a matter settled down in Kansas.

Iowa State, with Ray Donels, last year's freshman coach, now in the driver's seat after Yeager's departure for Colorado, will have a scrappy outfit which may trouble the leaders.

If Ralph Miller's trick knee holds up he'll carry Kansas over many rough spots. He really can throw the ball—just like a baseball from the most awkward positions—and is almost sure to be the league's leading passer.

Record Entry Is Predicted For Poughkeepsie Regatta

Fourth Annual Event Is Scheduled Sunday

September 21;

Five Races

The fourth annual running of the outboard regatta sponsored by the Poughkeepsie Yacht Club will be held Sunday, September 21.

John White, general chairman of the event, and his committee members, have been working hard in hopes of having another successful venture.

The Poughkeepsie club will have five races with two heats in each event. Every race will be over a five-mile oval course on the Hudson in full view of the Yacht Club.

It has been reported that entries for the regatta are pouring in to the club and officials opine that the event will draw a record entry. White looks for a good representation in all classes and forecasts competition for each of the class trophies.

Members of the general committee in charge of the regatta are Wilbur Converse, George Becker, Ted Marks, Floyd Shaffer, George White, Gene Shay and Bill Wanzler.

As in Kingston at the Roundout regatta, Lansing Lockwood, popular announcer, will have charge at the Bridge City in this capacity. Mrs. Lockwood will act as clerk. Shaffer, George White and Shay will be officials for each event.

Members of the Kingston Power Boat Association, who just recently experienced another successful regatta, are cooperating with the Poughkeepsie organization in making final preparations for the races.

It is expected that many racing officials from this city will be on hand next Sunday when the regatta is held.

government to successfully complete its desperate struggle for national defense, made this policy necessary.

We hope that by changing the starting time for the league games the second session will be over at around 11 p. m. This will give an added half hour in which open games may be played, and will enable us to meet the many increased costs in operation, without any substantial rise in prices. We depend on our business upon the good-will and patronage of the bowlers. We have absolutely no desire to do anything to hurt them. We are, however, in business, and cannot possibly continue therein unless we can at least meet operating expenses. These have greatly increased and may still further increase.

We sincerely trust that this will help the bowlers to understand the true facts and to clear up an unfortunate situation.

Respectively yours,

City League Meeting

A half-hour's difference from 7 until 7:30 o'clock is the newest stalemate of the City Bowling League following a meeting held last evening at the Y. M. C. A. After a heated discussion five teams threatened to withdraw from the circuit if the 7:30 o'clock ruling was approved.

The five teams were Jacks, Smiths, Colonials, Vining and Genals and Joneses. These clubs flatly refused to reorganize for the coming year unless they were granted the 7:30 shift.

After Earl Mellow and Jack Martin started the debate on the new starting time, the City Bowling League captains immediately started to plunge into a heated argument. When three separate ballots failed to reach an agreement, the meeting was adjourned.

Another meeting is expected to be called soon and at this session, the final decision probably will be announced.

Central Rec League

An important meeting of the Central Recreation Bowling League will be held this evening at the alleys starting at 7:30 o'clock. So far the complete roster of 12 teams has not been completed. The officers of the circuit extend an invitation to any organization or individual sponsor desiring to enter a team in this league.

The Central Recreation League will be composed of bowlers whose average of 1940-41 were not above 175. This will allow the keepers to continue to compete as Class B units in which class the league made a successful showing in the last ABC tournament.

West Hurley Men's Club Is Now in Federation

At a meeting of the delegates from the Federation of Men's Clubs held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening membership of the new West Hurley Club was admitted to the federation. President William Reil reported the collection taken at the softball play-offs amounted to $22.17 and it was voted to hold the annual softball banquet.

The banquet this year will be held at the Clinton Avenue church hall Wednesday, October 8. Trophies will be awarded at that time to the winners.

A committee consisting of Paul Jones, Harold Smith and Percy Krom was named to ascertain when and where the annual union church service could be held and make arrangements for the speaker.

The delegates voted to again form a softball league this winter. This winter the official games will be played on two boards similar to those tried out at the close of last year's season. All clubs will use the same boards and a diagram will be supplied each club. Play will begin in November and the secretary must be notified by October of clubs intending to play in the league.

Mealey Has Begun Campaign to End Maiming, Killing

State Motor Vehicle Chief Explains 'People's Law' to Take Careless From Highways

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 16 (AP)—Determined to "stop this maiming and killing," State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Carroll E. Mealey has begun a campaign to educate the public to what he terms a "people's law" to end the day of the financially irresponsible driver.

Mealey explained over radio stations WGY and WEAF last night the new motor vehicle safety-responsibility law effective January 1, this statute, passed by the 1941 legislature, provides for automatic revocation of the license and registration of any driver or owner failing, within 15 days, to satisfy a judgment following an accident causing personal injury or property damage over $25.

Citing the law as an attempt at protection against careless drivers "without resorting to the more drastic measures of a total compulsory automobile liability insurance statute," Mealey noted 45,311 accidents, 1,393 fatal, the first seven months of 1941, as against 45,504 and 1,232 last year.

Girls Are Only 50 Per Cent Effective in Utah Stations

Salt Lake City, Sept. 16 (AP)—If women could change tires and handle grease guns Utah might not have started its 30-day voluntary "curfew" on gasoline sales from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m.

But they can't, says Clifford W. Wall, executive secretary of the Utah Association of Petroleum Retailers, so the ban is on, with 90 per cent of the state's station operators pledging co-operation.

Wall said two Salt Lake City and some in southern Utah had experimented for a few days with girl attendants as a means of solving a reported labor shortage caused by military service and defense job openings.

"These dealers found the girls were efficient and decorative in the front end of the stations—that is in dispensing gasoline—but they weren't worth their salt in such jobs as washing and greasing, changing oil and repairing tires," he said.

Utah's night closing came after a survey made by the association as a means of reducing overhead and meeting the reported shortage of help.

Flying the Iceland Patrol, U. S. Navy Guarding in World's Worst Weather

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
AP Feature Service Writer

ABOARD U. S. NAVY PATROL BOMBER OVER THE ATLANTIC — "Line squall ahead!"

The voice comes to my right ear in the headset. I turn to the flight commander beside me in the pilot's perch forward. He's talking to me in the plane's phone system.

His finger points ahead, to the right. There lies a long black cloud, stretching out all of ten miles like a huge water moccasin asleep on a log.

The pilot speaks again. This time he's giving orders to the plane accompanying us, a mile or more off to the right. He uses the inter-plane phone system. This time his voice hits my left ear.

"Advise me if you lose contact; I will assign altitudes."

"Roger," comes back another voice.

The flight commander smiles, explains into my right ear. "That means he has received orders."

We are hurtling eastward over the North Atlantic. Earlier in the morning—much too much earlier for a late sleeper—we had gathered in the cabin of the operations officer aboard a huge floating air base. Its position is a secret, but it's "somewhere in the North Atlantic."

There the whole squadron received final instruction for an assigned mission. Specific orders were secret. But broadly, we were told to cover part of the lanes traveled by American merchant ships and war vessels plying between the United States and new Army and Navy bases in Iceland.

We had taken off at 3:45 a. m. in dark, choppy seas and flown for an hour or more to meet the dawn. The sun peeped over magnificent red Chinese pagodas outlined in the clouds. When I saw them I wondered why all aviators aren't poets, but my commander had other ideas on his mind. He said we could have picked a better day.

With that line squall in front of us, I know what he means. But our two 1,000 horsepower engines churn us steadily toward the storm at 150 miles an hour. The commander explains the squall is not too black for safe navigation, so we will skirt the end of it and remain on our course. In a few moments big chunks of fog hit us.

I look for our companion plane, can't find it. Neither can the flight commander. Then the voice comes again.

"I'm at twelve. Can't see you. Let me know if you climb." Calm and easy it is, like the voice of a fellow who'd casually dropped a collar button. He might have added, "Darn it!"

The flight commander takes his transmitter, glances at the sea of instruments in front of him.

"Hold twelve," he says. "I'll hold six-seven-zero."

"Wilco."

"That means he will comply," the right earphone explains. The commander throws the ship off "Iron Mike," the automatic pilot, takes over himself. They're holding different altitudes to avoid collision.

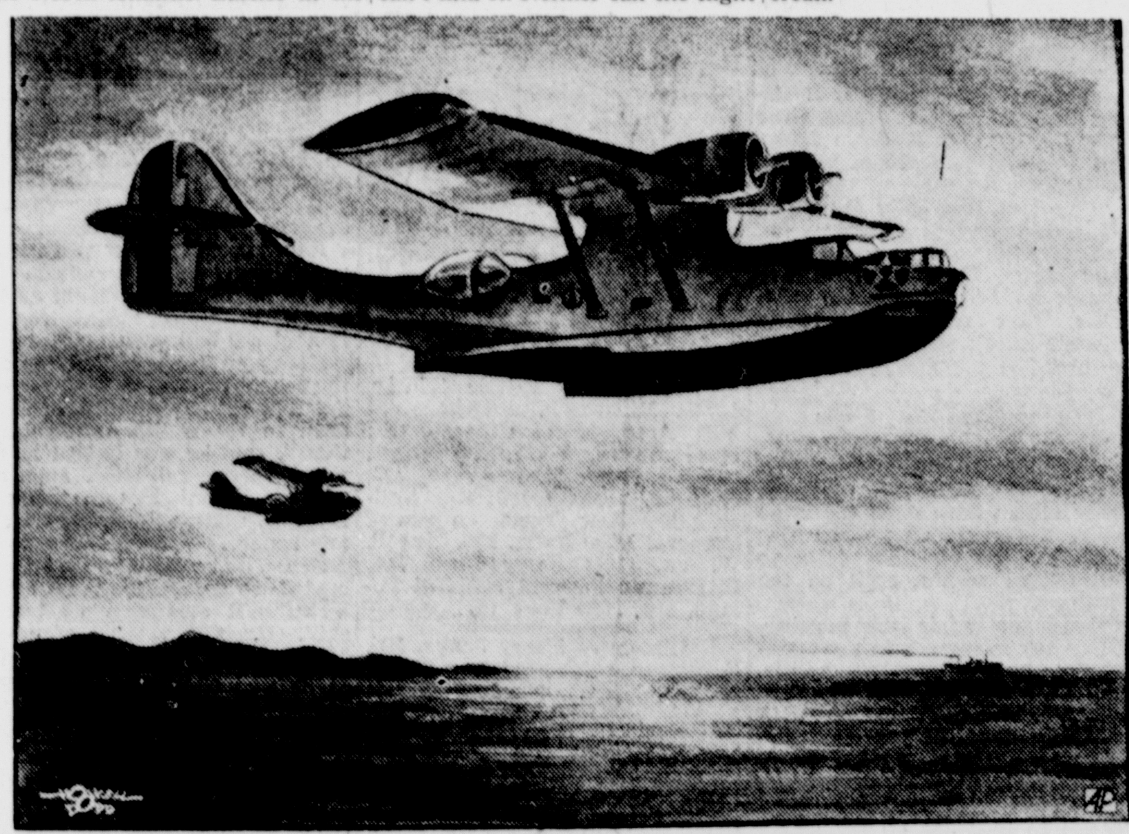

The fog closes in tighter. From a sunny morning lined with racing fleecy-white clouds, we plunge into twilight. The plane jerks back and forth. Rain and wind hit the hull, sound like corn in a popper. Suddenly we're out in the clear.

Our companion emerges to the right and above.

Somebody punches me in the shoulder blade. The bearded face of our mechanic grins.

"Soup's on."

Slowly I clamber down from the pilot's seat pedestal. It's bitter cold in spite of the arctic, the flying suit and the fleecy-lined jacket they'd loaned me. My legs creak.

ICELAND PATOL: Navy Flying Boats Like These Watch The North Atlantic.

I remember the boys back in Washington. They're probably enjoying a well cooked lunch in luxurious comfort, and here I am working like a horse. And they thought I was lucky to get this assignment. If they only knew!

The mechanic sits me down to lunch. What a lunch!

Juicy tender steak, salted and peppered to a queen's taste. A beautiful fruit salad. Peas. Toast. Butter, grape jelly. Steaming hot tea. All laid out on the navigator's table—right over a huge chart of the Atlantic ocean.

"Where are we?" I ask between mouthfuls.

"Pick up your lunch," says the navigator. I do, and he points his dividers to a blank spot about midway between New York and London.

"About there," he says.

I fall to again. By the time I get that steak under my belt, life's worth living.

The mechanic points to the plane thermometer. "Five above zero, centigrade," he says, hugging himself.

Now I begin to feel sorry for the boys back in Washington, sweltering in summer heat while I ride high, cool and contented over the North Atlantic.

The submarine attack on the U.S. Greer brings the North Atlantic patrol into the news spotlight more than ever. Morgan M. Beatty, AP Feature Service Writer is just back from a flying trip with the Navy over the patrol area. He is the only reporter to make this flight. Here is the first of a series of five reports on what he saw.

Two Men Die From Exposure in West

Clarence Hale Sacrifices Life in Trying to Save Man Hit by Tree

Diablo Dam, Wash., Sept. 16 (AP)—Pack horses brought the bodies of two men down steep-sloped Sourdough mountain last night from the spot where they died of exposure as one of them attempted to rescue his companion, injured in a fall.

The victims of the hiking tragedy were Conrad P. Opitz, Jr., 29, and Clarence E. Hale, 39, both of Seattle.

Hale sacrificed his life in leaving the shelter of Lookout cabin, which he had reached safely with his wife, to return to the aid of Mr. and Mrs. Opitz.

The grief-stricken widows said the two couples became separated late Saturday in rain, snow and fog that enveloped them half way up the steep five-mile hike to the summit of the 5,500-foot peak.

The Hales reached the top safely. After an hour of worry, Hale set out from the shelter in the darkness. He heard faint cries about a quarter of a mile down the trail, and found the Opitzes, hysterical, about 50 yards off the trail. Opitz was caught in a tree after a fall.

Opitz lost consciousness after Hale freed him. After putting him in a sleeping bag, Hale and Mrs. Opitz started out again, drenched, cold and near exhaustion. Hale collapsed before they reached the trail, so they rolled into blankets for the rest of the night.

At dawn yesterday, Mrs. Opitz had to shake Hale to awaken him. He seemed out of his head, so she hiked on alone to the Lookout cabin to find Mrs. Hale frantic with fear.

Mrs. Hale, unable to find the men, hiked down the mountain to the Seattle municipal power plant, where she had to break a window to attract attention above the whirl of the dynamos.

"I thought I would find them and bring them in if they were half alive," Mrs. Hale said wearily. "But I couldn't locate them from the trail, or locate them. I knew if I tried to leave the trail there might be three dead instead of two."

Both couples had climbed the mountain previously.
